

T E N D U C C I ' S
Second
R O N D E A U

1779.

Adapted for the HARPSICHORD with English Words

Price 1th

Price 5th

Pr. 5th

Pr. 1th

Pr. 10th

The Same in Complete Score with Italian Words & the Recitative as Sung by M. Tenducci at M^{rs}. Bach & M^{rs}. Abels Concert
Also the favorite Scene & Rondeau So-ti-taccio in Score with Italian Words
Adapted for the Harpsichord & Flute with English Words
 Likewise Six Italian Songs in Score as Sung by M. Tenducci at M^{rs}. Bach & M^{rs}. Abels Concert

London: Printed by Tho. Catusac, N^o. 4 Great Newport Street, near Long Acre. Where may be had the Third Rondeau.

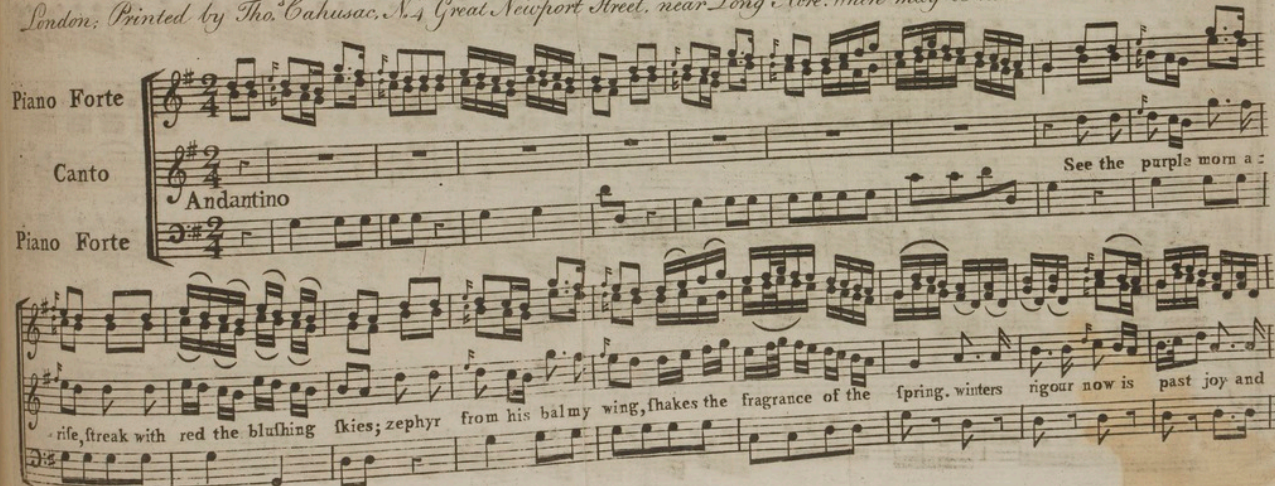

Piano Forte

Canto

Andantino

Piano Forte

See the purple morn a rise, streak with red the blushing skies; zephyr from his balmy wing, shakes the fragrance of the spring, winters rigour now is past joy and

[Tenducci's second rondeau: p. 1]

2

rapture smile at last; swelling billows cease to roar, and die a long the silent shore. Peace is now the hero's mead, peace to sorrow shall succeed; Fears that long our hopes o'ercast; pain and anguish now are past, bleak misfortune's reign is o'er; fullen billows cease to roar, the radiant God of day re- turns, and with doub- : - le lus : : tre burns : - with double lustre burns, see the purple morn a : :

rise, streak with red the blushing skies; zephyr, from his balmy wing, shakes the fragrance of the spring, winter's rigour now is past, joy and rapture smile at last; swelling billows cease to roar, and die a : : long the silent shore.
Peace is now the he- - ro's mead peace to cresc:
cresc:

4 Fortifs:

for : row shall suc : ceed : the God of day re : turns, with double lustre burns,

Fortifs:

see re : turns, swelling billows cease to roar, and die a : long the silent shore, and die a : long the si : lent shore, and die a : long the si : lent shore.

18