About the Composer

The Overture to "King Lear" of Hector Berlioz (1803-69) is the first of three major works composed during his "Prix de Rome" years of 1831 and 1832, although it was actually composed in Nice, where he stayed for three weeks on his way to Rome. The other two are Rob Roy overture, based on the Sir Walter Scott novel, and Lelio, a sequel to "Symphonie Fantastique" that also has references to Shakespeare (Hamlet and The Tempest). This preoccupation certainly had a lot to do with his obsession with the English Shakespearean actress Harriet Smithson, who he eventually married. It turned out to be a very unhappy alliance, although his love for Shakespeare never wavered. His later masterpieces, the Romeo and Juliet Symphony and the Opera Beatrice and Benedict (Much Ado about Nothing), certainly attest to that fact.

"King Lear" is stylistically very similar to the first movement of "Symphonie Fantastique", a strong indication that he was reluctant to move on from the success of that work. Lelio, his unprecedented work that features a narrator, tenor and piano as an orchestral instrument (the first appearance in the literature for all three), even quotes the principal theme at the beginning and end of the orchestral passages in the composition. Once he returned to Paris, though, he started moving in other directions, this time with an obvious reflection upon his two years in Italy. ("Harold in Italy", the viola symphony, and the opera "Benvenuto Cellini"). All of Berlioz' Shakespearean works (King Lear, Lelio, Romeo and Juliet, Beatrice and Benedict) easily fall into the category of neglected masterpieces; none of them receives anything but token performances today.

Notes for this arrangement

1. Performance- These works are designed to add to the performance repertoire of the low brass choir.
2. Clef reading- These arrangements will hopefully also serve as advanced clef practice for trombonists playing the top parts. It is unfortunate that clef reading skills don't seem to be a priority for many contemporary trombone teachers, but the ability to transpose at sight remains a prerequisite for becoming an excellent professional musician. Please keep in mind that the first time one has to ask a conductor for a transposed part is likely the last time one will perform with that ensemble!
3. Scoring- There is some octave displacement to keep the individual parts within the comfortable range of the performing instruments and to establish the alto trombone as the highest voice.
4. Range- The basic range of these transcriptions is from high D to low B. For each of the three quartets, the ideal mix would be alto, .525 bore tenor, .547 bore tenor and bass trombone.
5. Breathing and Articulation- There are no breath marks in these transcriptions; that is perhaps the most personal decision a brass player ever makes. There are, however, notes left out in extended passages that would be otherwise impossible to perform well, hopefully in the most appropriate locations. Performers are also encouraged to add slurs whenever it is deemed appropriate.
