About the Composer

"Rienzi" of Richard Wagner (1813-83) was premiered in Dresden, Germany in 1842 and was his first success. It led to his appointment as Kapellmeister at the city's Opera House and to the later premieres of his next two operas (Die Fliegende Hollander and Tannhauser). In the nineteenth-century, it was his greatest success, although he later repudiated its composition. It did not receive a performance in Bayreuth until 2013; even then, the performance did not take place in his famous "Festspielhaus", which was built to premiere the "Ring of the Nibelung" by King Ludwig of Bavaria, Wagner's most important Patron.

Wagner's three early operas were all derivative of other composers. "Die Feen" was greatly influenced by von Weber, "Das Liebesverbot" by Marschner and "Rienzi" by Meyerbeer. This was predictable, since during Wagner's time in Paris in the late 1830s Meyerbeer was his only influential supporter. In fact, he was instrumental in securing the premiere in Dresden. The conductor Hans von Bulow (the first husband of Wagner's second wife, Cosima) once called "Rienzi" Meyerbeer's best opera. In contrast, another critic referred to it as Meyerbeer's worst opera! Mahler apparently agreed with von Bulow; he is known to have considered "Rienzi" to be Wagner's most impressive composition. Wagner certainly did not agree.

Notes for this arrangement

1. Performance- These works are designed to add to the performance repertoire of the low brass choir.

2. Clef reading- These arrangements will hopefully also serve as advanced clef practice for trombonists playing the top parts. It is unfortunate that clef reading skills don't seem to be a priority for many contemporary trombone teachers, but the ability to transpose at sight remains a prerequisite for becoming an excellent professional musician. Please keep in mind that the first time one has to ask a conductor for a transposed part is likely the last time one will perform with that ensemble!

3. Scoring- There is some octave displacement to keep the individual parts within the comfortable range of the performing instruments and to establish the alto trombone as the highest voice.

4. Range- The basic range of these transcriptions is from high D to low B. For each of the three quartets, the ideal mix would be alto, .525 bore tenor, .547 bore tenor and bass trombone.

5. Breathing and Articulation- There are no breath marks in these transcriptions; that is perhaps the most personal decision a brass player ever makes. There are, however, notes left out in extended passages that would be otherwise impossible to perform well, hopefully in the most appropriate locations. Performers are also encouraged to add slurs whenever it is deemed appropriate.
