

The cover of the magazine 'o Malho' is a watercolor illustration. At the top, a woman with long, wavy blonde hair and a halo, dressed in a white, draped garment, stands with her arms outstretched. Below her, a large, dark, curved shape contains the title 'o Malho' in a stylized, red, cursive font. Underneath the title, the text 'ANNO XVIII NUM 871' is printed in a smaller, red, sans-serif font. In the lower-left foreground, a soldier in a dark uniform with red and white stripes on the sleeves and a pointed helmet is shown from behind, holding a flag with red, white, and black stripes. The background consists of soft, layered washes of blue, grey, and white, suggesting a sky or a landscape. A small signature is visible in the bottom right corner of the illustration.
