Eduard Herrmann (1850-1937) was a German violinist and composer, a pupil of the Stuttgart Conservatory and of Joachim and Kiel in Berlin. He was concertmaster of the Hamburg opera orchestra and of the Imperial Orchestra in Leningrad. He moved to the United States and in 1881 formed in New York a quartet with Schenk, Lillienthal and Hauser which gave annual concerts of all Beethoven's quartets. This little Serenade was published in 1895. His other published chamber works include two string quartets, a two-cello quintet and a sextet for wind and strings.
